Description of the University

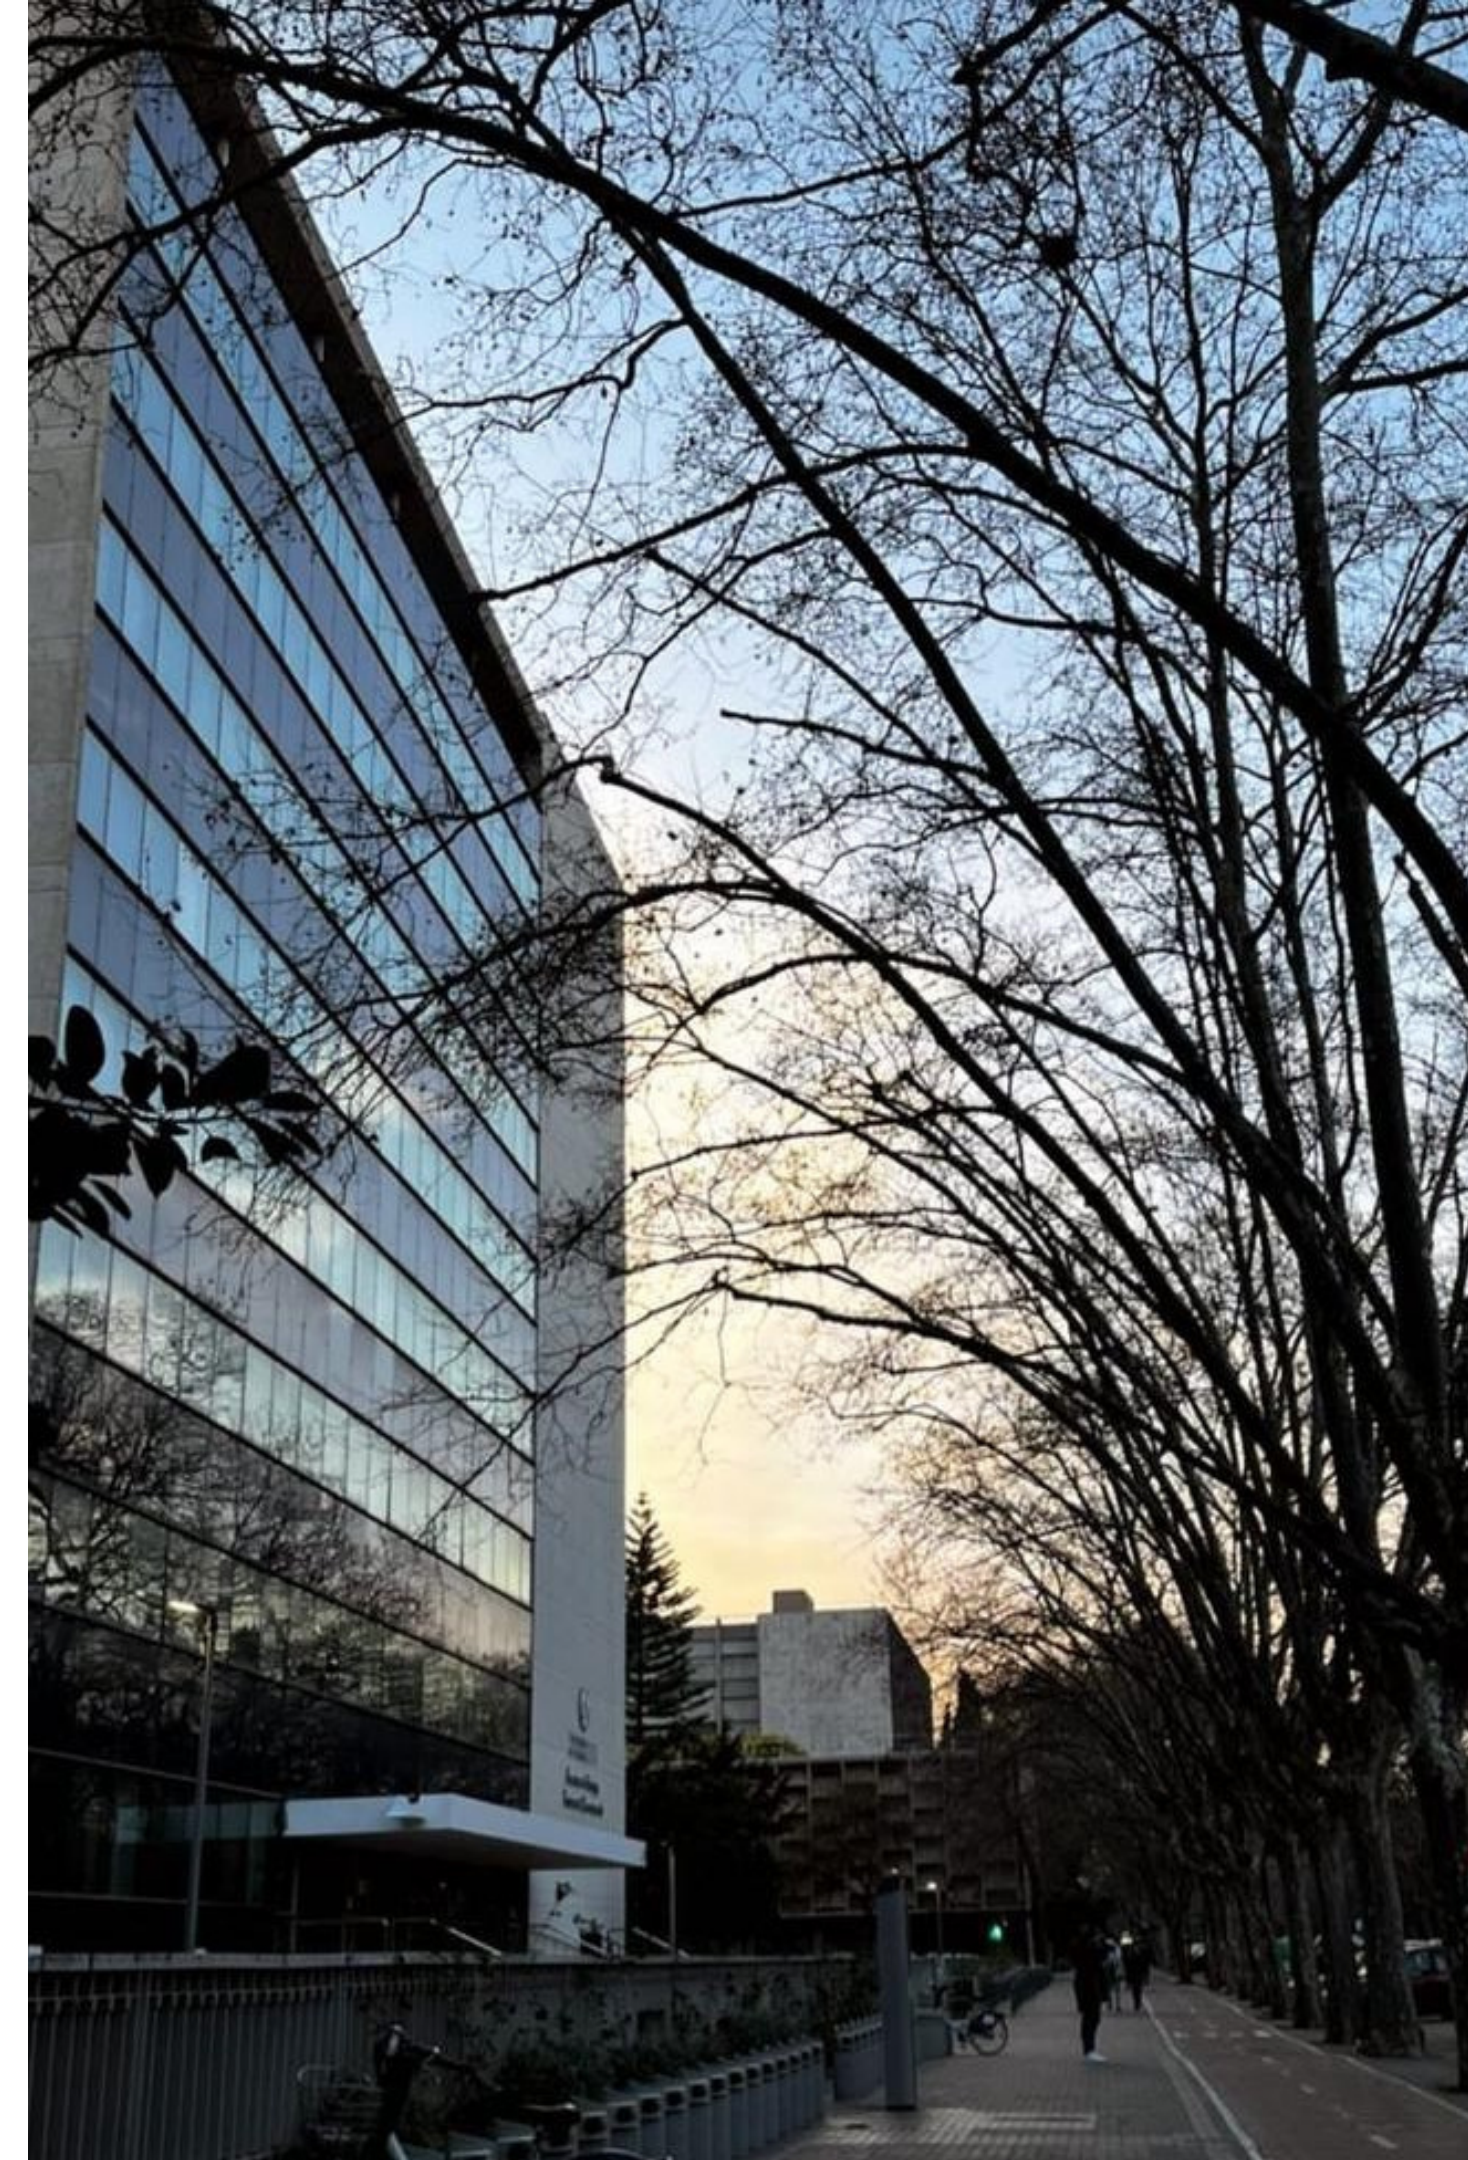

- The University of Valencia is the first European university in receiving Erasmus students.
- About 2,000 incoming students study each year at the UV out of a total of about 45,000.
- In 2013 the UV received the honorary recognition as Erasmus Institution of the year 2013 by the Autonomous Body for European Educational Programmes (OAPEE), which analyses the management of the Erasmus programme.

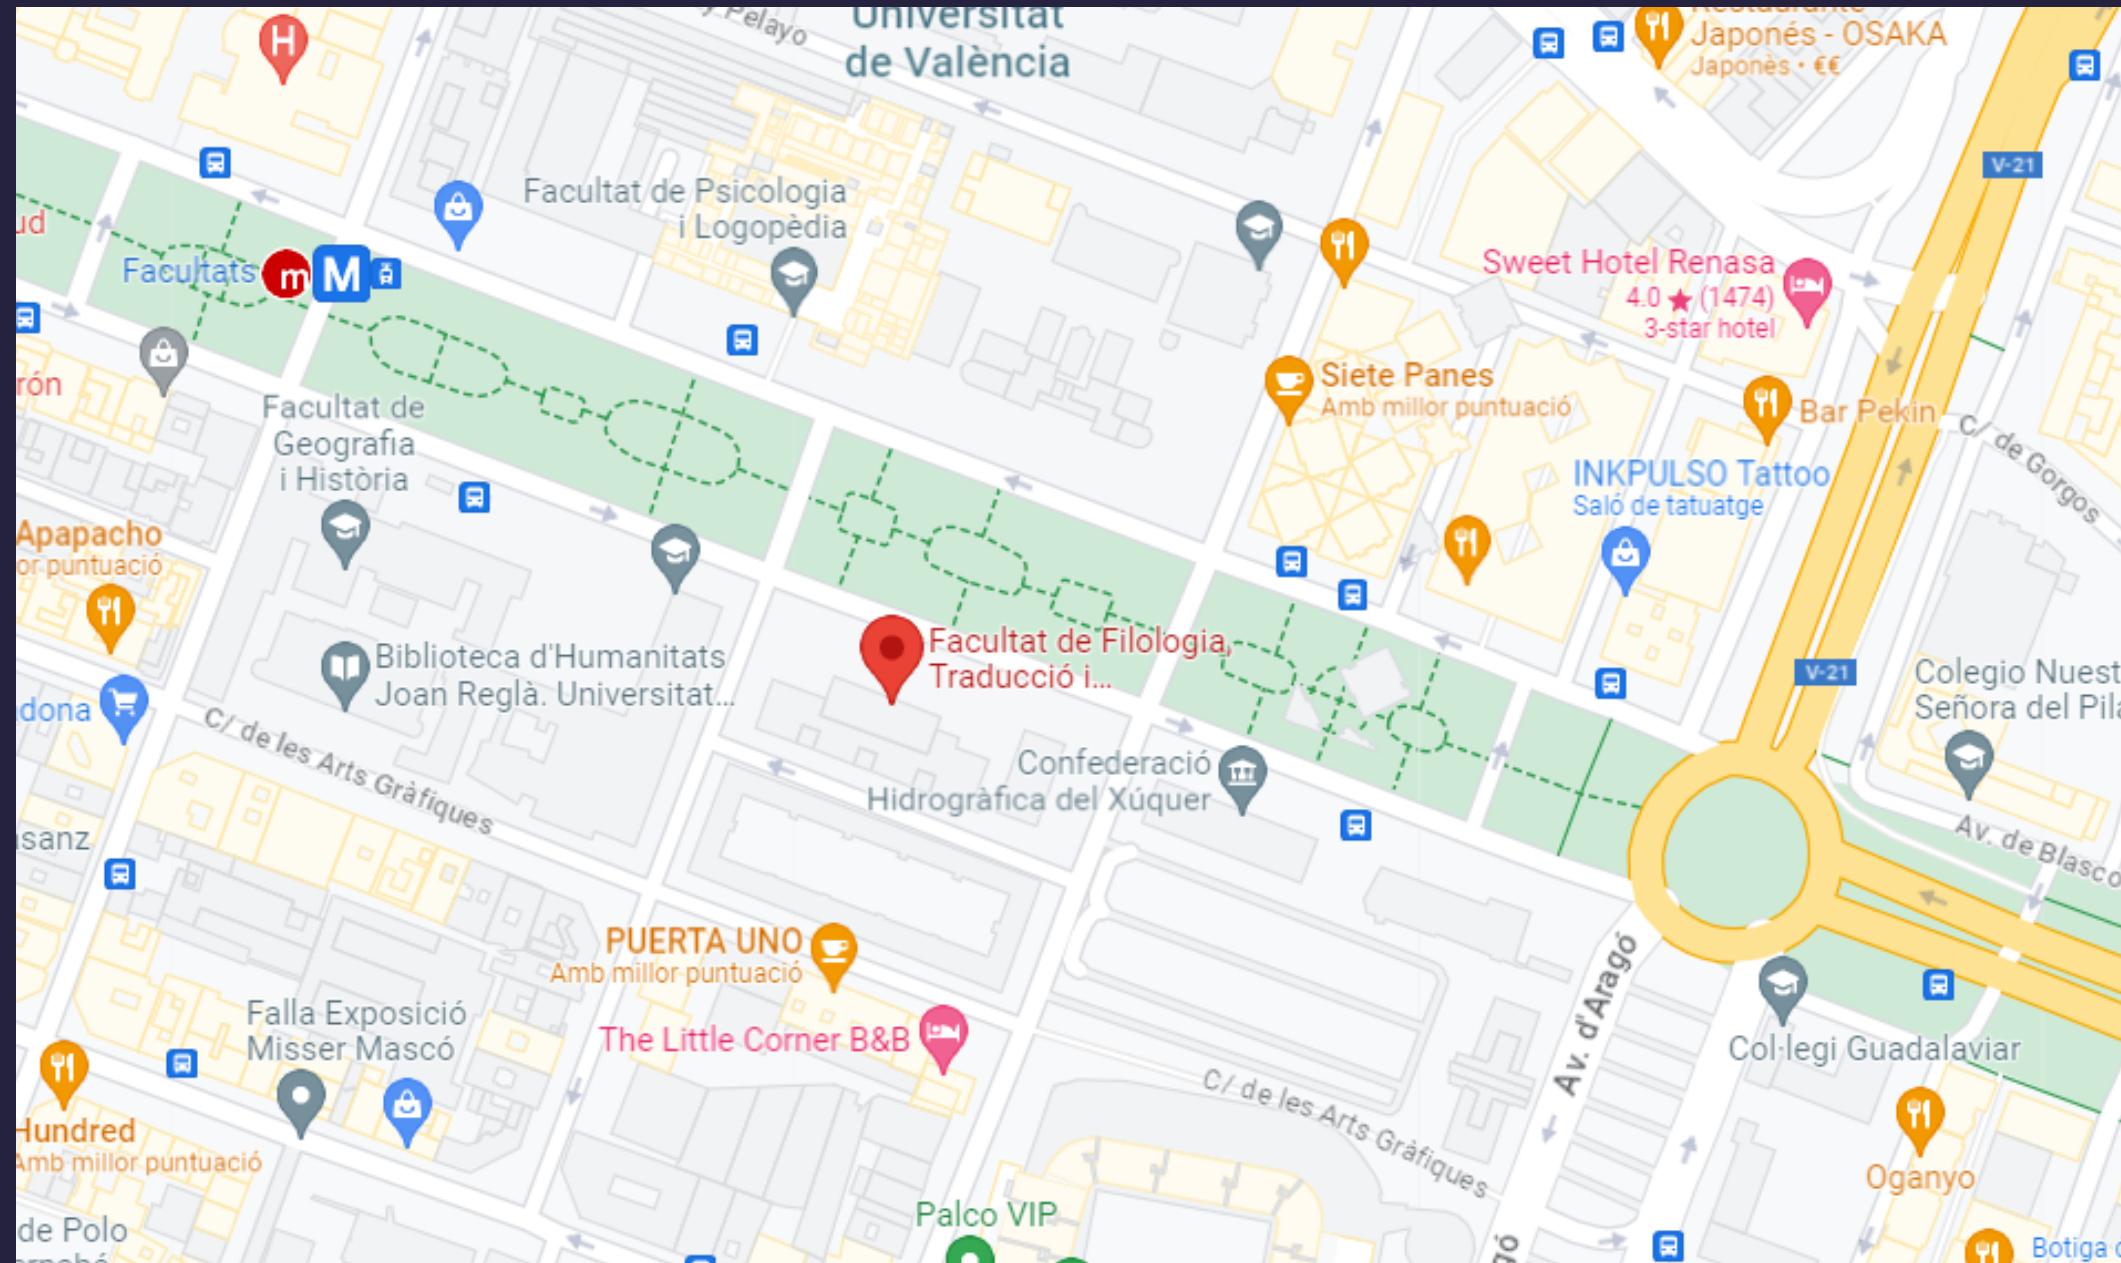

VNIVERSITAT
DE VALÈNCIA

Facultat de Filologia, Traducció i Comunicació (FFTiC)

- Approximately 700 incoming students come to study at the FFTiC each year.
- The FFTiC offers 8 bachelor's degrees, 7 official master's degrees and 3 doctoral programmes.
- The FFTiC also offers a series of its own degrees (certificates and diplomas) both face-to-face and online.

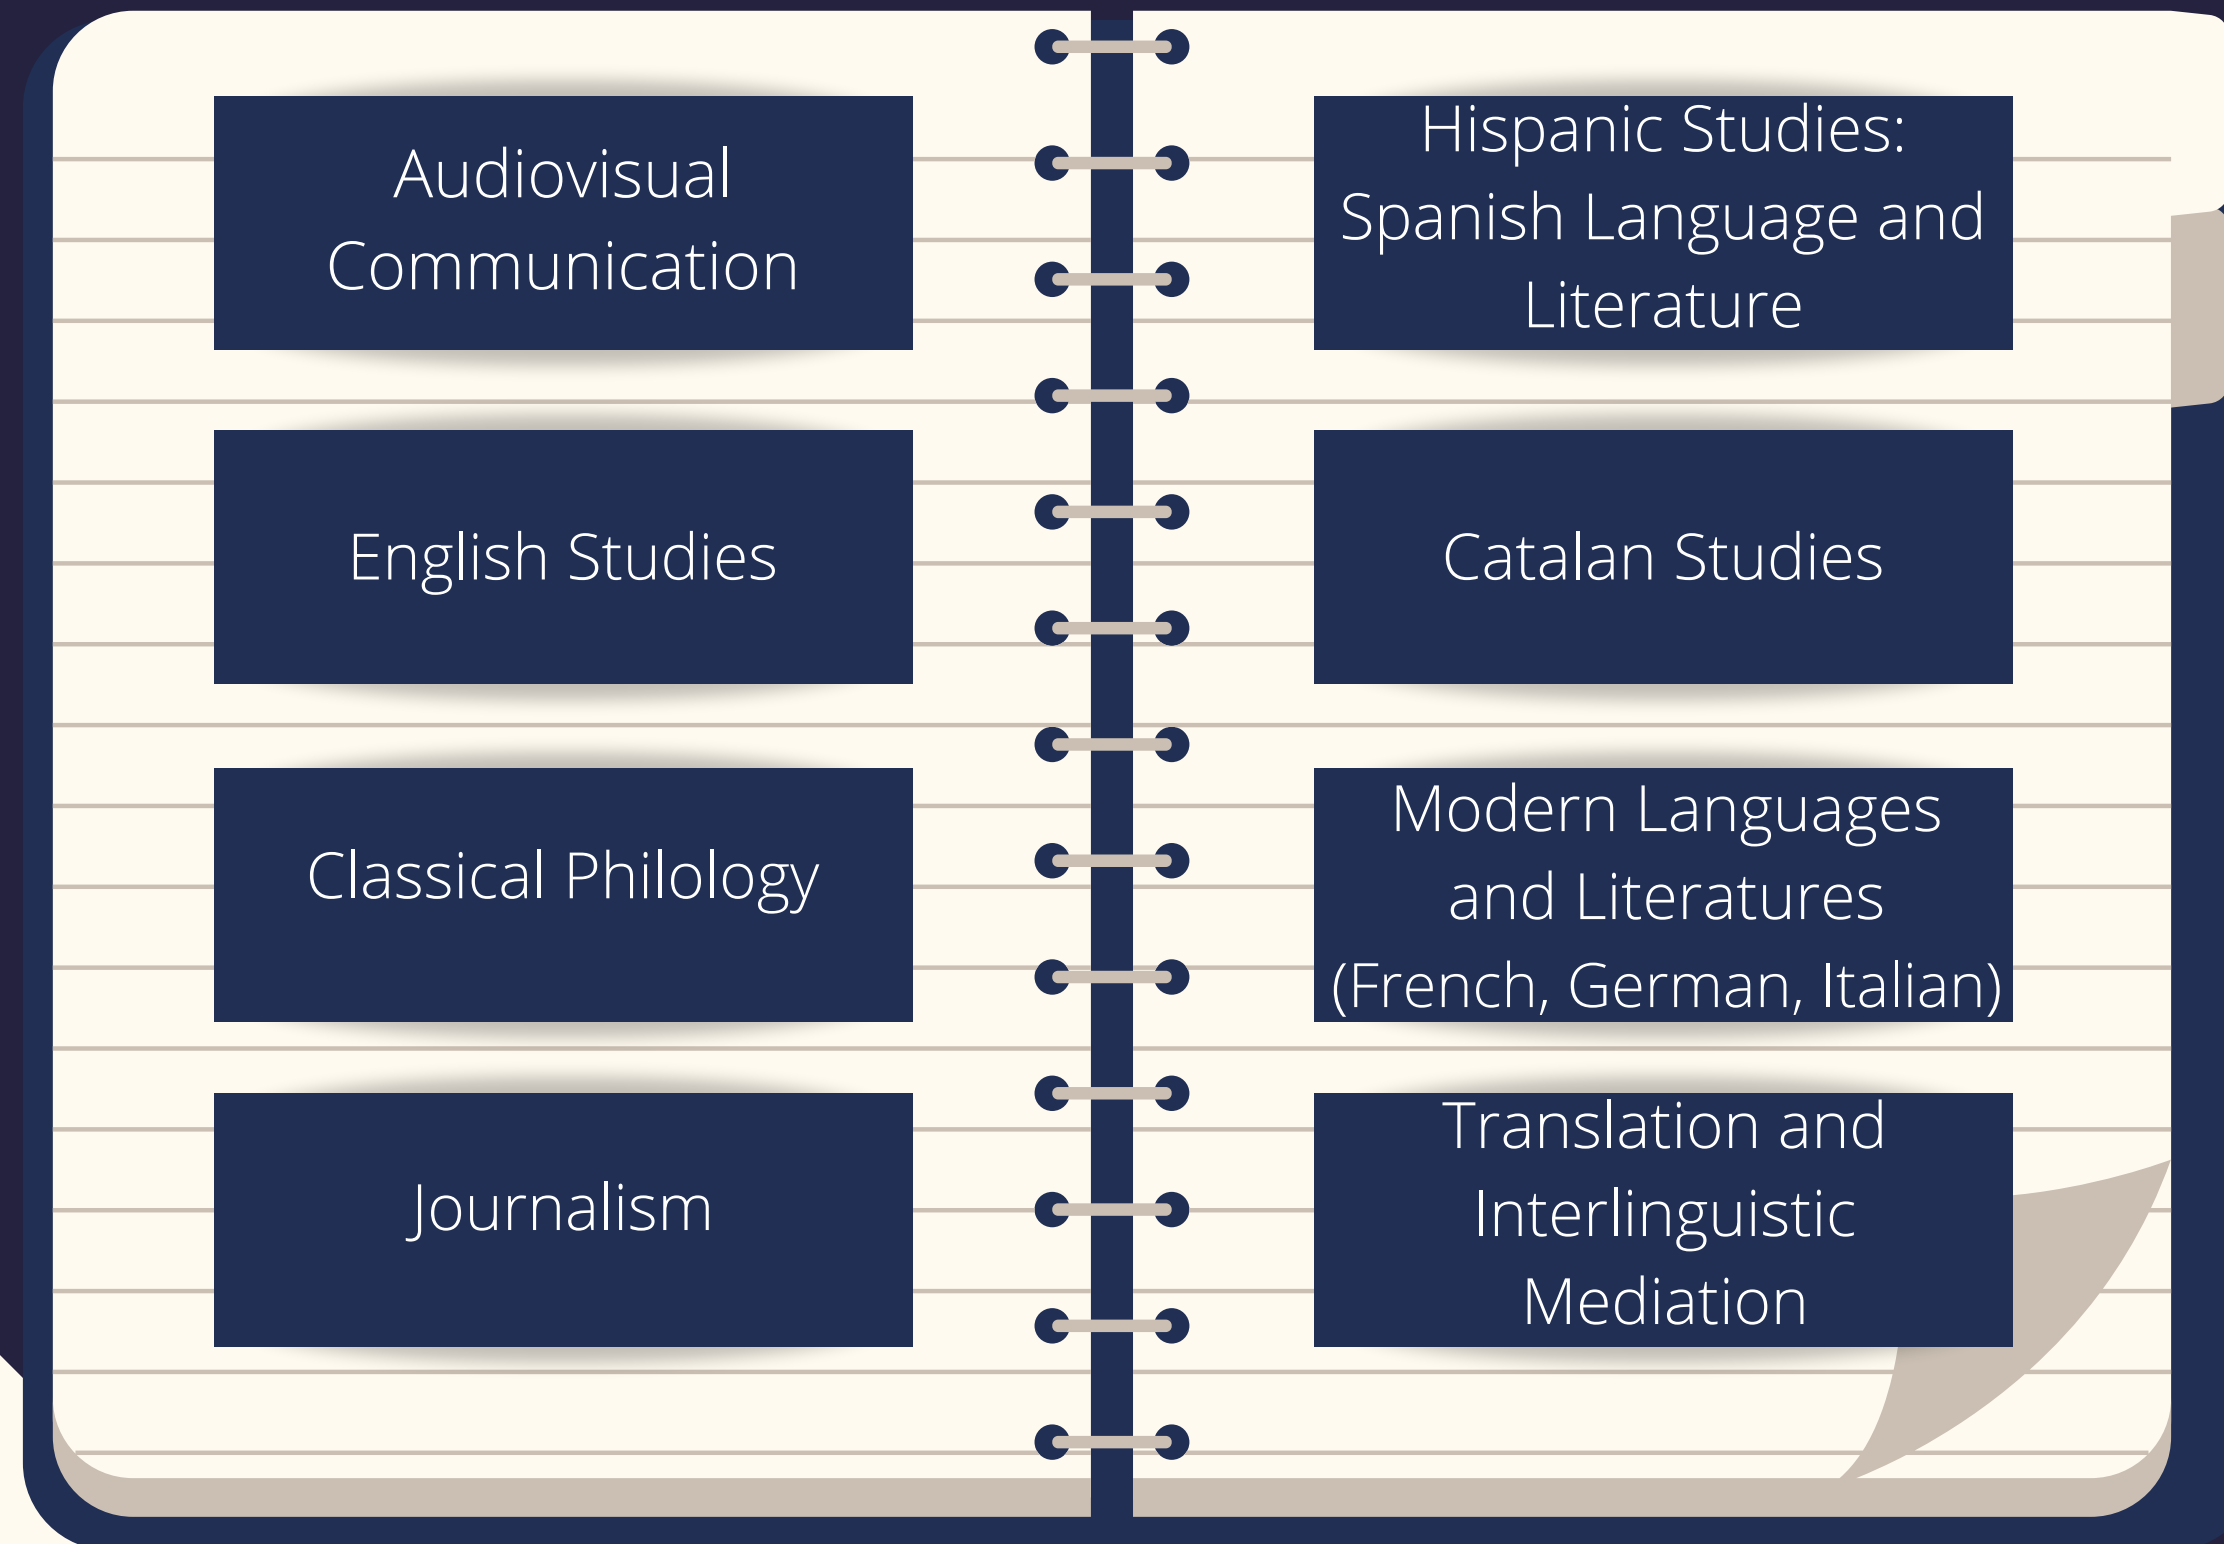

Where is the FFTiC located?

The FFTiC is located at Avenida de Blasco Ibañez 32, an urban street in the city of Valencia considered the centre of university life.

Degree Programmes

- The FFTiC offers 8 undergraduate degrees.

Eating at the FFTiC

- The FFTiC has its own cafeteria, where students can eat for reasonable prices, between €5 and €6.
- Students can bring their own food and/or drinks and have them in the cafeteria, as no consumption is required to be seated.
- For those who bring their own food, the cafeteria has some publicly accessible microwaves to heat it up.

Research and documentation

- The University of Valencia offers a network of libraries for all students.
- Students can take books, study, use booths for group work.
- The Joan Reglà Humanities Library is located very close to the FFTiC and offers useful material for Humanities and Social Sciences degrees.
