1. Webinar: Introduction to Review Articles: Writing Systematic and Narrative Reviews

Join this webinar provided by Enago and Annual Reviews to deepen your knowledge on systematic and narrative reviews !

When: 29th July 17:30-18:30 CEST

Speakers: James R. Greenwood, Adjunct Professor, UCLA Fielding School of Public Health and Richard Gallagher, President & Editor-in-Chief of Annual Reviews

Review articles significantly contribute to the progress of science by coherently presenting the existing findings on a research topic. Enago in collaboration with Annual Reviews—a nonprofit scientific publisher dedicated to synthesizing and integrating knowledge for scientific advancement—will aim to address the challenges faced by research scholars in review article publication through its next webinar. Researchers often face challenges to identify good quality, bias-free, and relevant data from the plethora of research-based evidence present in an ever-growing scientific literature database. Review articles adopt a methodical approach to select, critically appraise, and summarize the available research findings to answer a focused scientific question and identify potential research areas.

Through this session, researchers will have a better understanding of the following:

- Overview and significance of review articles in academic publishing
- A comparative analysis of different types of literature reviews
- Tips for writing good systematic and narrative reviews
- Role of meta-analysis
- Guidelines and tools for improved reporting of a systematic review
- Narrative Reviews in summary by Annual Reviews

They will be offered a three-year employment contract to conduct a research project at accredited centres with the Severo Ochoa or María de Maeztu excellence award, Institutos de Investigación Sanitaria Carlos III and units evaluated as excellent by the Fundação para a Ciência e Tecnologia of Portugal. For Spanish institutions, candidates must have resided in Spain less than 12 months in the last three years while for Portuguese institutions, candidates must have resided in Portugal less than 12 months in the last three years.
