Dr. Joan Martín-Montaner. I got my Ph. D. in Economics and Management in 1998 at the Universitat de València. Since 2002, I am Assistant Professor in the Economics Department at Universitat Jaume I de Castelló and researcher in the Instituto de Economía Internacional (Institute for International Economics. I occupied the position of Director of the Institute for International Economics in the period 2008-2014, and responsible of the master program in Economic Internationalization in 2010-2013. Vice-Dean in the Faculty of Law and Economics in the University Jaume I, responsible of the degree program in Economics during the 2014-2018 period. Since 2018 I hold the position of vice-rector for Internasionalisation and Cooperation at the University.

My main interest research is in the field of international economics, focusing on the study of intra-industry trade and the impact of international migration flows on trade and FDI. My research has been published in Applied Economics, Economic Modeling, European Journal of Population, Regional Studies and Welwirtschaftliches Archiv/Review of World Economics European Journal of Population, Regional Studies.

Five selected/recent publications:

1. Cuadros, A., J. Martín-Montaner; J. Paniagua (2019) Migration and FDI: The role of job skills, International Review of Economics and Finance, vol. 59, pp. 318-332.
2. Martín-Montaner, J., F. Requena; G. Serrano (2018) Networks and Self-Employed Migrants, Small Business Economics, vol. 51 (3), pp. 735-755.
3. Serrano, G.; F. Requena; J. Martín-Montaner (2012) Immigration, Factor Endowments and the Productive Structure of Spanish Regions 1996-2005, Regional Studies, vol. 46 (7), pp. 927-945.
4. Blanes, J.V.; J. Martín-Montaner (2006) Migration Flows and Intra-Industry Trade Adjustments, Review of World Economics, vol. 142 (3), pp. 567-584.
5. Martín-Montaner, J.; V. Orts-Ríos (2002) Vertical Specialization and Intra-Industry Trade: The Role of Factor Endowments, Welwirtschaftliches Archiv vol. 138 (2), pp. 340-365.