

He obtained a degree in Chemistry from the University of Guadalajara (Mexico) in July 2013. He completed his final project in the department of enzymatic catalysis. He completed a Master of Science in the development of Biotic Products at the National Polytechnic Institute with the collaboration of the Autonomous University of Mexico (2014-2016) in department of plant biotechnology, was awarded a scholarship by the National Council of Science and Technology during the degree and the Master. He worked as a Professor in the Department of Chemical Pharmacobiologist the University Center UTEG (2016-2018). In January of 2019 he joined MINTOTA as a PhD student at the University of Valencia.

Currently participates in the development of supports for the desorption of nitrates in water samples. As a result of his scientific work, he has published 1 article (under review) and a laboratory practices handbook.