

April 22nd, 2020

Dia del planeta Terra

Let's make a planet Earth as a tribute

The Earth doesn't belong to the man, the man belongs to Earth, and is the only one we have. It is our duty and responsibility to take care of the Earth and everything on it, and with no doubt, we shall not exhaust our resources because they are not infinite and it is essential to manage them responsibly.

1.-Activity:

Make sentences that inspire the protection of our planet Earth (these phrases will be cut and attached on the stick that holds the earth and will be published on our website and social networks.

Final result of the Earth model

2.- Workshop:

Make your own planet Earth with its seas, continents and a tree that symbolizes life on Earth.

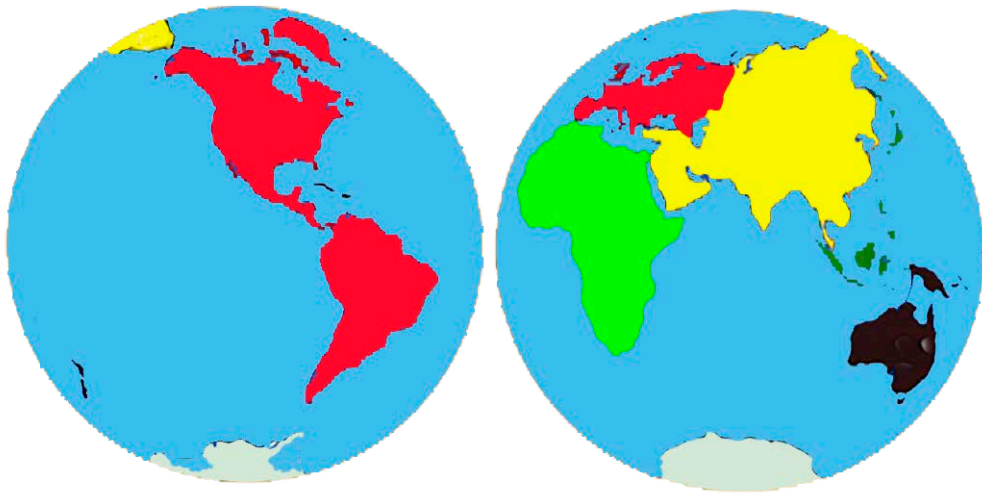

Materials:

- Polystyrene or playdough balls
- polystyrene surface or other material to hold the Earth, a cardboard box can work
- Chopsticks
- Green sawdust (sand painted green)
- White glue
- Blue and green tempera or watercolor
- Brushes and scissors
- Dry branches to create a tree

Proceso:

- First we will put a toothpick on the cork ball and with the brush we will paint all the earth blue.
- Then let it dry nailed on a sheet of polystyrene (white cork) or a pot.
- In the meantime we will make our tree by cutting a dry branch of a plant and apply white glue so we can drop sawdust or sand previously painted with green tempera.

- If the paint is already dry, we will first draw the silhouette of the continents, based on the drawing below or the video.

Pay attention to these Earth templates, you can watch this video to draw the continents

- We will apply glue on the inside of the continents drawings and we will drop the sawdust or green sand, it will be stuck only where there is glue.
- Finally, we will nail our tree and we already have our planet earth. Planet Earth can be nailed to a pot next to any plant.

Results of the workshop to create a globe in commemoration of Earth Day