SUMMARY

The optional course Nationality and Immigration Law is integrated in the international law itinerary and it is directly related with the mandatory subject Private International Law.

Nationality Law is the sector of the Spanish law system that regulates the ways of attribution and acquisition of the Spanish nationality, its conversion, loss and recovery, as well as double-nationality and statelessness situations. At the same time, immigration law studies the rights and freedoms of foreign citizens in Spain: their entry, stay and exit of the national territory, as well as the penalty regime applicable to this area. Furthermore, the European integration process has led to a specific intra-European circulation regime and the special status in Spain for European citizens and their relatives. Finally, the Spanish regime of international protection will also be addressed (asylum, among other legal institutions).

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

The teaching methodology will combine lectures and activities such as case-resolution, analysis of judgements and other immigration-and-nationality-related decisions. Likewise, the organization of supplementary activities such as seminars and conferences by experts in the subject matter is foreseen, along with regular tests throughout the duration of the course. All the above will be taken into account in order to set the final grade in the framework of continuous evaluation. Class attendance -with the relevant legislation in hand- will be required in order to follow the explanations and solve the practical cases that will be raised.

EVALUATION

Evaluation system

A. Written and/or oral evaluation that may consist of one or several exams that may be objective and may include theoretical and practical questions and/or problems.

B. Continuous evaluation, based on the regular attendance and active participation in the proposed classroom activities, such as practical realization or participation in workshops, preparation and/or submission of papers, reports and/or presentations regarding those activities, in a collective or individual way. The implication and effort shown by the student in the process of teaching/learning during the development of such activities will be considered.

C. Continuous evaluation, based on the attendance of the student to the seminars or visits to different institutions, and, when necessary, the submission of papers, reports and/or presentations regarding those activities, in a collective or individual way. The implication and effort shown by the student in the process of teaching/learning during the development of such activities will be considered.

Grading / Weighing

A 70%

B+C 30%

Regardless of the general assessment system established for all students (written or oral exam), the lecturers responsible for the subject may determine in the Syllabus Annex the possibility of changing, well-founded, the final exam modality when they are forced to hold the exam on a date different from the official one under the rules established for coincidence of exams in the Regulations on Assessment and Grading of the Undergraduate and Master's Degrees of the University of Valencia, or any other cause established by regulation (e.g. justified force majeure). In these cases, the new type of exam to be taken must maintain the same level of difficulty as the general one.

Blank answers will not be penalised in multiple-choice examinations.

Continuous assessment will not be considered if the student does not pass the final exam. The continuous assessment mark will be kept for the second sitting. Activities of a recoverable nature may be retaken in accordance with the lecturer's instructions.

Students who have followed the continuous assessment and have obtained a grade in this regard, in the event of not taking the final exam on the official date (both in 1st and 2nd calls), will obtain the grade "NO PRESENTADO".
