SUMMARY

Spelling and grammatical correctness will be required both in the exam and in the practical exercises. Each spelling, orthotypographical or grammatical error will result in a reduction of the grade. The general translation course is part of the fourth teaching module of the verification document of the official degree in Translation and Interlinguistic Mediation.

This module four, called "Translation Practice", is aimed at the development of the *translational competence or competence that defines the specific training objective of the degree. Being "general translation" and following the academic criteria usually assumed, this subject is focused on the translation of general texts. This subject is oriented to the development of general translational skills, so the contents are based on the translation practice of several thematic and textual types: editorials, conferences, journalistic texts, advertising.

It is a continuation of General Translation French 1/Spanish-Catalan taught in the first semester, therefore the contents are also of a general nature with a higher level of difficulty

PREVIOUS KNOWLEDGE

RELATIONSHIP TO OTHER SUBJECTS OF THE SAME DEGREE

There are no specified enrollment restrictions with other subjects of the curriculum.

OTHER REQUIREMENTS

Access to these subjects requires having passed or having studied levels B3, C2 and A1.

As this is a process of translation from language B into language A, advanced knowledge of the language of the texts to be translated (French) is necessary.

COMPETENCES / LEARNING OUTCOMES

1009 - Degree in Translation and Interlinguistic Mediation (English)

Compare and analyse the constituents of one's own language with those of other languages, in order to apply them to translation and linguistic mediation.

Design and manage projects in the academic or professional field of translation and linguistic mediation.

Have translation competence (direct and/or reverse) for general texts.

Show ethical commitment in the field of translation and linguistic mediation as regards gender equality, equal opportunities, the values of the culture of peace and democratic values and environmental and sustainability issues, and have an understanding and appreciation of linguistic diversity and multiculturalism.

Students must be able to apply their knowledge to their work or vocation in a professional manner and have acquired the competences required for the preparation and defence of arguments and for problem solving in their field of study.

Students must have acquired knowledge and understanding in a specific field of study, on the basis of general secondary education and at a level that includes mainly knowledge drawn from advanced textbooks, but also some cutting-edge knowledge in their field of study.

Students must have developed the learning skills needed to undertake further study with a high degree of autonomy.

Work and learn autonomously and plan and manage work time in the field of translation and linguistic mediation.

Work as a team in the environment of translation and linguistic mediation and develop interpersonal relations.

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

Our work will be based on texts that are not marked from a stylistic or terminological point of view: journalistic texts, advertisements, letters, comics, magazines, instructions, brochures, etc.

The methodology used in the learning process will enable students to grasp the communicative function of any translation, the importance of the process of constructing the meaning of the source text in order to produce a correct text appropriate to the communication situation and the intention of the text.

The process of creating the target text will be seen as a dynamic act of meaning production, and both linguistic and semiotic elements will be taken into account (importance of linguistics and semiotic elements such as images, pictures, typographic characters).

Students will find in Aula Virtual Resources dossiers with French texts that will be translated into Spanish. Some will be worked on in the classroom and others will have to be translated individually. The process of translation will be the subject of collective reflection based on the students' work and their different options.

This subject takes into account ODS 1, 2, 5 and 10. It contributes to raising students' awareness of the needs of the most vulnerable: elimination of poverty (1), gender equality (5), reduction of inequalities (10) through quality education (2). To achieve this, texts with this type of content will be worked on.

EVALUATION

The evaluation will consist of two parts:

- Written exam [70% of the grade].
- Oral exposition of a commented translation work that must also be uploaded to the virtual classroom in the task created for this purpose [30% of the grade].

In order to pass the course, the oral presentation must be done before the date of the official exam.

A minimum grade of 5/10 must also be achieved in each part of the evaluation.

Attendance to classes of a theoretical or theoretical-practical nature is not required as a minimum requirement to pass the course (articles 6.8/6.9).

Only the part of the evaluation not passed in the first one (oral work or final exam) will be recovered in the second call.

Students will have the right to pass the course in the second call (article 6.6.).

THERE WILL BE NO DIFFERENT MODALITY OF EXAMINATION FOR STUDENTS WHO CANNOT ATTEND CLASSES.

Spelling and grammatical correctness will be required both in the exam and in the practical exercises. Each lack of spelling, orthotypography or expression will result in a reduction of the grade obtained, which may even lead to failure.

IMPORTANT:

Intellectual honesty is vital in academic communities, and for the fair evaluation of students' work all papers presented in this course must be of original authorship.

Papers that make use of fraudulent collaboration or composition with the help of artificial intelligence (ChatGPT or others) will not be accepted.

The general grading system will follow the regulations of the Universitat de València approved by the Consell de Govern on May 30, 2017. ACGUV 108/2017.
