SUMMARY

Scientific description and instrumental knowledge of the language focused on the development of communicative, grammatical, linguistic, etc. in French at level B2.1 and accompanied by a description and teaching of grammar according to the progression of competences.

The subject belongs to the French Language subject, which is made up of 7 subjects and is taught in the degree of Modern Languages and their literatures, as well as in the degree of Translation and Interlinguistic Mediation.

It is also part of the Minor Module, a complement to training in modern languages and their literatures different from that which has been chosen as Modern Language B.

It has two main objectives: to acquire a level of communication in French language-culture with an appreciable degree of autonomy and to demonstrate solid knowledge of how the language works.

Furthermore, this course contributes to the following Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs):

1. SDG 4: Quality Education - Promote quality, equitable, and universal learning opportunities.
2. SDG 10: Reduced Inequalities - Facilitate inclusion and reduce inequalities through language learning.
3. SDG 17: Partnerships for the Goals - Foster collaboration and intercultural understanding through language learning

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

The topics included in the program and the timetable will be studied and put into practice using the recommended materials. Student work will combine collective and autonomous activities. To do this, it will be essential to have the material indicated by the responsible faculty, as well as a recommended grammar book from the basic bibliography. This material will also be necessary for the French Language IV course, as it forms part of the fundamental references for all French language courses in the Degree program.

Practical Classes

The faculty will pay attention to each of the competencies involved in the different tasks performed by students. As part of the formative continuous assessment pathway, and in order to improve their capacity for autonomous learning, students may request guidance from the faculty before completing and submitting each task.

Autonomous Work

Students are encouraged to undertake consistent independent study at home, based on the recommended manual and other activities proposed by the faculty throughout the course. This work is essential for consolidating the content covered in class and for promoting adequate learning progression.

Other Activities

Tasks will be carried out using new technologies. Likewise, attending conferences and visiting cultural centers recommended by the faculty will be part of the course activities and will be considered in the evaluation.

Remarks

Classes and all work to be carried out will be conducted in French. The faculty, after studying the group's profile, will indicate the material chosen for the course and class. Students must pay close attention to the information, resources, and activities disseminated through the University of Valencia's Virtual Classroom.

EVALUATION

Assessment mode

The assessment, both written and oral, includes all communication skills (comprehension, expression, interaction) and grammatical correction of the French language (level B2.1). The evaluation will consist of two differentiated mandatory parts to pass the entire subject:

- Activities carried out during the course: 30%
- Final exam: 50% (written) ; 20% (oral).

The professor will communicate to the students the percentages of each part of the evaluation on the final grade as well as the compulsory tasks that enter the continuous evaluation. He will also indicate the parts of the continuous assessment not recoverable in the 2nd call. In the virtual classroom of the subject, the contents of the continuous evaluation and the final evaluation will be established.

Important remarks

1. In the continuous evaluation, the absence of a mandatory work will be evaluated with a 0.
2. To pass the whole subject, it is necessary to achieve at least 50% in all competences (oral and written expression and comprehension) of the continuous assessment and the final assessment.

3. The notes of the approved parts are saved for the 2nd call. It is impossible to redo an already approved part.
4. Students who do not attend class or have problems attending should contact the teacher as soon as possible.

Intellectual honesty is vital in academic communities and for the fair evaluation of students' work. All assignments submitted in this course must be original work. Assignments that involve fraudulent collaboration or composition with the help of artificial intelligence (ChatGPT or others) will not be accepted, except if their use is part of the course content and is authorized by the instructor.
