TEACHING METHODOLOGY

Theory-based classes: This subject will be structured around lecture classes that aim to provide the necessary historical and cultural context for each movement or period under consideration, and commentary and group discussion of representative texts included in the reading list.

Practical classes: Group discussion of all representative texts of each unit.

EVALUATION

Assessment in the FIRST and SECOND CALLS:

- a) Individual written examination: 80%
- b) Two essay questions related to specific texts and authors from the reading list included in the written examination, or optional essays or tasks: 20%

To pass the subject students need to get at least 5 points out of 10.

Assessment Criteria

The exam questions will evaluate both theoretical and practical aspects of the course in order

- 1) to assess the student's assimilation of knowledge and concepts imparted during lectures and
- 2) to assess her/his understanding of and critical response to texts studied in class as reflected in the ability to manage the appropriate methods and techniques of analysis

Plagiarism will not be tolerated; it is a serious academic offence. Any student who is found to have plagiarised his/her work will face serious consequences which could lead to failing the subject

The ability to communicate at the B2 (CEFR level) is required to pass the course as a whole. Students' whose written and/or oral communication display errors that are not consistent with the above level will fail the module regardless of their performance related to the course contents.

Intellectual honesty is vital to an academic community and for the fair evaluation of the student's work. All work submitted in this course must be originally authored by every student. No student shall engage in unauthorized collaboration or make use of ChatGPT or other AI composition software.
