SUMMARY

The aim is to train both competent communicative users and experienced connoisseurs of the French language. The French Language 2 course (6 ECTS) is part of the Modern Language B program. It is also part of the Minor Module, a complementary training program in modern languages and their literatures, separate from the Modern Language program. It is also part of the Bachelor's Degree in "Translation and Interlinguistic Mediation" (French). This course is taught in French.

Its fundamental objectives are the following: to maintain continuity with previously acquired levels, and to continue progressing toward a level of communication, expression, and argumentation in the French language and culture with a significant degree of autonomy and mastery of all the grammatical points included in the program.

Furthermore, this course contributes to the following Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs):

1. SDG 4: Quality Education "Promote quality, equitable and universally accessible learning opportunities."
2. SDG 10: Reducing Inequalities "Facilitate inclusion and reduce inequalities through language learning."
3. SDG 17: Partnerships for the Goals "Promote intercultural understanding and collaboration through language learning."

TEACHING METHODOLOGY

The topics included in the program and timeline will be studied and put into practice using the recommended materials.

The students' work will combine collective and independent activities. To achieve this, it will be essential to have the material prescribed by the teaching staff, as well as the recommended grammar in the basic bibliography, as it is part of the fundamental references for all French language subjects in the degree.

Theoretical Classes

The study that allows progress in the syllabus will have a theoretical and practical component, but closely linked to the preparation and active participation of the students, through improved proficiency in the language, knowledge of how it works, and shared reflection.

Practical Classes

The analysis will be put into practice through exercises, activities, assignments, and the use of information technologies. These activities will integrate, to the extent possible, the theoretical knowledge acquired during the course and the consolidation of previously studied skills.

Independent Work

Students are encouraged to complete independent and consistent homework based on the recommended textbook and other activities suggested by the faculty throughout the course. This work is essential to consolidate the content covered in class and promote proper learning progression.

Other Activities

Assignments will be completed using new technologies. Attendance at lectures and visits to cultural centers recommended by the faculty will also be part of the course activities and will be taken into account in the evaluation.

Observations

Classes, as well as the various assignments to be completed, will be conducted in French.

The faculty, after analyzing the group profile, will indicate the materials chosen for the course and the classes.

Students should pay special attention to the information, resources, and activities disseminated through the University of Valencia's Virtual Classroom.

The methodology will take into account the activities of the PMGest UV project SFPIE_*PIEE2734713, approved by the UV's SFPIE.

EVALUATION

1. General organization

The assessment aims to verify the acquisition of theoretical knowledge and the development of the competences required at the level specified for this course. Particular emphasis will be placed on mastery of grammar and communicative competences (both oral and written) in the foreign language, through theoretical tests and practical exercises involving the analysis and description of oral and written texts, in line with the B1.2 level required in all components.

The assessment will consist of two distinct parts, both of which are mandatory to pass the course as a whole:

Activities carried out during the course:

- Autonomous activities: 10%
- Test on grammatical contents and written expression: 30%
- Test on reading and listening comprehension: 10%

Final exam:

- Written exam: 30%
- Oral exam: 20%

In any case, communicative competences (comprehension and expression, both oral and written) in French, as well as theoretical knowledge of the French language, will have priority in the assessment.

2. Important considerations

- The final grade will be the weighted average of each of the assessment components.
- Students must achieve at least a 5/10 in each part of the assessment to pass the course.
- Each assignment or task must be submitted by the established deadlines. Any assignment or task not submitted will receive a 0/10.
- Active participation by students throughout the course will also be considered in the assessment.
- Students who have not passed or have not taken the assessments carried out during the course will have the opportunity to recover them through the final exam. The final exam will include specific sections to make up for each of the tests or tasks. Grades obtained during the course will be retained, so students will not need to repeat parts already passed in the final exam.

Finally, it is important to highlight that intellectual honesty is fundamental within academic communities and essential to ensure fair assessment of students' work. All work submitted must be original. Assignments produced through fraudulent collaboration or with the help of artificial intelligence (such as ChatGPT or similar tools) will not be accepted, except where their use is explicitly included within the course content.
