  3. Preparation of evaluation activities.

EVALUATION

1ST CALL

1. Portfolio of the course, which will include a fragment, freely chosen by the student, of those translated in each class. It will be weighted as 25% of the final grade of the course. It will be deposited in AV on the indicated date.
2. Class presentation of a theatrical translation. Weighted as 25% of the final grade for the course. The translation will be deposited in AV on the indicated date.
3. Class presentation of a poetic translation. It will be weighted as 25% of the final grade of the course. The translation will be deposited in AV on the indicated date.

4. Exercise consisting of the translation of a theatrical text and a poetic text, in the last class of the course, only with bibliographic support on paper. It will be weighted as 25% of the final grade of the course.

Attendance to 80% of the classes is mandatory.

To proceed to the calculation of the average grade it is essential to have obtained, at least, a 5/10 in all the exercises. The average grade will be reduced to 4.5 if at least a 5 has not been obtained in all the exercises.

All translations presented in this course must be of original authorship. The use of computer applications is understood as a complement to the personal translation. Translations resulting from a non-critical use of computer applications will not be accepted. The professor may interview the students to verify the authorship and understanding of the translations submitted. Plagiarism in any of the exercises will result in failure of the course. Grammatical and lexical correctness in the target language is essential to pass the course.

SECOND CALL

The grades obtained in the exercises of the first round will be retained in the second round. All the exercises are recoverable in the 2nd round except for 2 and 3 (presentation in class of a theatrical translation and a poetic translation). Attendance and participation in class is not recoverable in the second call either.
