SUMMARY

The course Advanced consumer analysis and competition in the marketing plan, whose program is described in this document, is considered basic in the training of a marketing specialist, and there is a large volume of theoretical and empirical research that supports this subject within of the discipline of marketing. At the same time, in recent decades, business practices have undergone significant changes, which are developing in parallel with the increase in market complexity. This complexity has favoured, in the context of commercialization, the development of the strategic aspect of marketing that has as one of its fundamental functions the analysis and understanding of consumers and competition.

A successful marketing planning must start from the knowledge of the consumer and the competitive forces of the market, hence the importance of the subject.

In the subject, the different aspects that affect consumer behaviour, both individually and in groups, will be analysed, the purchasing models that determine these behaviours. The models of analysis of the behaviour of the competitors, as well as the main instruments necessary for the practical application in the organizations of these models in the processes of formulating the marketing plan and in its implementation.

The generic objective is to provide information, tools, protocols and indicators that allow analysing the behaviour of the consumer and the competition. Understanding and characterizing the consumer and the competition is the first axis on which the material is constructed. The second is to know indicators that help in strategic marketing planning.

EVALUATION

The evaluation of the subject is in accordance with article 6.4 of the evaluation and grading regulations of the Universitat de València for Bachelor's and Master's degrees, which states: "The overall evaluation of the students can be obtained as a result of a combination of the evaluation obtained in a final test together with the evaluation obtained in the different activities of continuous evaluation carried out, in accordance with the teaching guide".

The subject is evaluated in the following way:

1) PART A: EXAM + CONTINUOUS EVALUATION (50%).

a) EXAM (20%): The exam is taken on the official date. It is written and consists of theoretical and practical questions. It is scored out of 2 points. The minimum grade to pass this part and be added to the grade of the continuous evaluation is 1 point. This part is RECOVERABLE, so that:

- If the student passes this part, he/she can keep the grade for the second call in case of not passing or not presenting the group work.

- If the student does not pass this part, he/she will have to take the exam of the second round.

b) CONTINUOUS EVALUATION (30%): It is the continuous evaluation of the activities developed by the student during the course individually and/or in group (practices, online questionnaires, exercises, cases, etc.). It is scored out of 3 points. The grade obtained can be kept for the second exam. This part is NOT RECOVERABLE.

The completion of all these activities is MANDATORY. The non-completion of any of these activities or their delivery out of time will be graded with a 0.

The grade obtained in the continuous evaluation can be added to the exam grade PROVIDED THAT AT LEAST 1 POINT (out of 2) HAS BEEN OBTAINED IN THE EXAM.

In any case, in order to pass part A a minimum score of 2.5 points (exam + continuous evaluation) must be obtained.

2) PART B: GROUP WORK (50%)

The realization, presentation and exposition of a group work is scored out of 5 points. The minimum grade to pass this part and to be added with part A (exam + continuous evaluation) is 2.5 points. This part is RECOVERABLE, so that:

- If the student passes this part, he/she can keep the grade for the second call in case of not passing part A (exam + continuous evaluation).

- If the student does not pass this part, he/she will have to repeat the group work presenting it in the second exam.

The final grade of the course is the sum of both parts as long as the student has obtained at least 2.5 points in part A (exam + continuous evaluation) and 2.5 points in part B (group work).

This course cannot be passed without attending class. Attendance to class sessions is compulsory.

ACADEMIC HONESTY

The conduct consisting of copying in an exam or plagiarizing an evaluable work is contrary to the duties of students as stated in the state and internal regulations of the UV. The assessment of these dishonest practices will be governed by the provisions of Article 13 of the evaluation and grading regulations of the Universitat de València for Bachelor's and Master's degrees on Fraudulent performance of evaluation tests. Copying in an exam of this subject will lead to the opening of a disciplinary process.

POLICY STATEMENT ON THE USE OF ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

Students using Artificial Intelligence tools must use it responsibly for information analysis and research, maintaining academic integrity and complying with ethical and legal standards.
