TEACHING METHODOLOGY

In addition to the exposition of the relevant theoretical content it is intended that the student will be able to apply in practice the knowledge acquired and develop the skills necessary for the performance of the functions of the mediation and arbitration.

For this reason, the teaching methodology will consist in:

theoretical exposure of the basic contents of the program

analysis of cases and resolving situations of practices on the part of the students

Students will carry out the following tasks:

active participation in classes

solve case studies proposed by mediation or arbitration be capable of responding to the critical comments raised by the teacher or the colleagues

EVALUATION

The proposed methodology must have its consequences at the level of the evaluation of the subject, as it is intended the acquisition by the student of a series of competences where the acquisition of theoretical knowledge is important, but even more the formation of a trained professional to the settlement of disputes in the field of the law of obligations by means of mediation and arbitration.

Therefore, to pass the subject, the student must resolve to comment on a sentence with a factual assumption in terms of obligations, delimiting the matters of free disposal and issue an opinion to resolve the controversy, applying mediation or in arbitration, drafting the appropriate documents for it. .

These works are valued with 100% of the final grade: summary, systematization, student contribution and practical application to mediation or arbitration.
