There are no specified enrollment restrictions with other subjects of the curriculum.

OTHER REQUIREMENTS*COMPETENCES / LEARNING OUTCOMES*2246 - Master's Degree in International and European Studies

Students are able to project their own knowledge on specific problems and, in so doing, distill the most significant arguments and conclusions for their resolution.

Students are able to work effectively in a team in pursuit of the resolution of complex international and European problems.

Students can work in multidisciplinary teams replicating real contexts, coordinating their own knowledge with that of team-members from other fields.

Students demonstrate an advanced capacity to master international judicial/political language; especially that related to Community matters.

Students develop the practical aspects of the subjects/matters raised in the formal teaching through the identification, communication and resolution of problems that emerge during the execution of the activities/tasks they are assigned, enabling them to compare, evaluate and, where necessary, devise solutions to the problems and anticipate them by means of due planning.

Students have the ability to discover and select both information and the appropriate sources thereof pertinent to the resolution of international and European problems/issues that present a certain degree of difficulty.

Students should apply acquired knowledge to solve problems in unfamiliar contexts within their field of study, including multidisciplinary scenarios.

Students should possess and understand foundational knowledge that enables original thinking and research in the field.
